Do you own your own props and costumes for your desired roles? Do you have plans to do so? (The correct answer is an enthusiastic "Yes!") _____

Do you have any special skills or training that could be useful?

As a cast member, you will be expected to:

- Help load, unload, and set up/take down props...
- Be available the SECOND SATURDAY of each month, or give appropriate notice...

- Start by being a Transylvanian...dressing up and helping perform the Time Warp and Ooh and Aah until the Bedroom scene...this is also a good line-calling and security job during the rest of the film.
- (optional) Learn to work the lighting rig...
- Be security (Walking the aisles, calling out lines, watching the drunkies, keeping peace, watching props and the lighting tech's back)

YOUR NAME / DATE APPLIED

The Basics:

You should be over 18 years old. (or 17 with signed parental permission). Sorry, this is the Bible belt, y'all, and we have to watch ourselves.

We want you to SHOW UP!

When we schedule you to do a part or a job, we've slotted you to do a specific thing to help our show and it really screws us when you don't come to do that job, and we gotta get someone else to do it. We realize shit happens, and we all miss shows at one time or another, but if it becomes a regular thing, it's a problem.

We want you to REALLY participate.

We have a lot of fun doing this, and we all get along pretty well for the most part - but, it also takes a bit of work to put on the show. While certain longtime members do have more responsibility and do more for this during and even outside of the show nights, we expect everyone to chip in and help out on show nights, even if it's just knowing your role well and having a decent costume, and filling in and helping where needed.

Do you have tryouts or auditions and such, or other restrictions for potential cast members?

No, not really. While we do have a few basic acceptance criteria, pretty much anyone that applies is accepted (and if we don't accept you, we will give you a reason why).

When do I start?

We will start you as soon as we can, especially if there is a casting emergency at the last minute. Unless your ideal primary role needs to be filled immediately, you will likely just start out by playing a Transylvanian and helping out with props and lights, etc. We do really like to mix it up though and we regularly alternate and rotate performers, so if you make any effort and show enthusiasm and get together (or have) a costume, you will be like playing a primary role in no time.

Tech and Crew and Security

We are happy to accept applications for non-stage roles, such as props, lighting, security. Shows don't go without tech! But this is not an excuse just to get into a show for free and socialize, we need you to do what you are there to do. Be careful with the awesome power of being security and don't just be a big meanie to the audience...we kind of need them.
